COAL PRODUCTION EXCEEDS ALL RECORDS

Coal mines throughout the province of Alberta produced 7,334,179 tons of coal during the year 1928, and of this amount 2,422,729 tons were shipped to other provinces in Canada, according to the annual report of the mines branch of the provincial government, made available by Premier J. E. Brownlee, Saturday morning.

The province consumed 1,409,475 tons, 3,054,239 tons were sold to railroad companies in Canada, 52,625 tons were shipped to the United States for consumption, 22,882 tons were used for the manufacture of briquettes, 240,431 were used to fire colliery boilers, 7,106 tons were used by colliery railroads, 58,039 tons were put to stock and 119,998 tons were put on the waste heap. The production for the year was 397,399 tons greater than for the year 1927.—Calgary Herald.

A Promise Fulfilled

WHEN the New Ford was promised to the motoring public our reputation, which was established by twenty-three years of undisputed leadership, came to the test. Restrictions as to price, raw materials and labor did not exist. The new car should be a masterpiece—the contribution of its makers to the automotive history of the age. Practical idealism would fashion it into the fleet, sturdy, beautiful car of today.

It was promised. Curtains of rumor and uncertainty cloaked the months. It appeared. One year on the highways of the world proved its speed, power, endurance; one glance, its beauty. The promise is fulfilled.

You have seen Ford cars glide by, moving into traffic, manoeuvring, taking the lead. —Now drive one yourself and feel the superabundant power at your command. Your Ford dealer will be glad to give you a demonstration.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION INSTITUTE CONVENES HERE

On Friday afternoon the Religious Education Institute of the Evangelical Church was opened with Rev. W. W. Krueger, Superintendent of Missions, in the chair. Present with him were Rev. E. N. Mohr, Morse, Sask., conference director of religious education, also Rev. E. M. Gishler, conference secretary. Several other men could not be present owing to unpreventable circumstances. The Institute closed Sunday evening.

Among the different topics of special interest were that of Catechetical Instruction. How necessary it is to have such training in early youth that our boys and girls be started out on the right path. Along with this subject is that of Sunday School work. The Supt. in his calling to be an example to his scholars and everyone with whom he comes in touch.

The work of the Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor was very much emphasized. How much talent is going to waste that could be utilized. Give them work and let them use their superfluous energy that it may be well expended.

One of the items of special interest was that of unveiling the new piano which was purchased by the young people through a unique plan. It was unveiled by the president and vice-president of the Young Peoples' League of Christian Endeavor. This will surely make a very fine asset to the work of church music.

The Communion Service followed, in which many took part. Another talk followed on Sunday School equipment. Only the best is good enough for the most valuable asset of the church, the Sunday School scholar.

The afternoon services were well attended and fine talks delivered on subjects vital to the church life.

Several were baptized in the evening service and seven united with the Church. It was a very impressive service where one mother and father and their two-months-old baby were baptised and the mother and father joining the church. This was followed by a talk on "The Young Christian's Social Life." Man is a social being and must have amusement. He will have it. Then why not have the Church afford such as is to the upbuilding of the man and welfare of his soul? A game of tennis or hockey of good clean sport or of baseball well played surely is helpful, but dare not be played at the expense of our religion or for the desecration of the Lord's Day. Let us help men in their battles, not destroy them.

Thus closed an excellent convention.

The Battle of January...

January was a momentous month for wheat producers the world over. Canadian farmers had delivered nearly four hundred million bushels of wheat. Argentina and Australia were commencing the delivery of unusually large crops. There was an immense visible supply of wheat. The market commenced to sag. The optimistic feature in a rather gloomy picture was the Canadian Wheat Pool. Just what the Pool stood for is told in candid language by George Broomhall, the British grain authority, in "Milling":

"Prices were put down on the plea that Argentina must sell more of her new crop, and, in fact, shippers did put out lower offers, and some Canadian sellers followed the downward lead.

"But it was soon found that the Canadian Pool refused to offer or sell at the lower prices, and, of course, this gave Argentine shippers courage to work for a reaction.

"The action of the Canadian Pool also gave the buyers confidence, and they not only found they needed wheat, but that they could pay better rates for it."

"As long as sellers were willing to 'cut' prices, buyers were quite prepared to stand back and let them do still more 'cutting,' and quite possibly there might have been a bad slump had not the Canadian Pool taken a strong stand.

"The Canadian Pool Managers

certainly deserve credit for courageous handling of a difficult situation, and their action proves that farmer members of the Pool would not agree to low prices at this period of the season.

"The lesson of price movements of wheat in the past week is that emphasis must be given to the power of strong holders to maintain prices.

"Past experience showed that a crowd of weak holders was almost at the mercy of buyers in times of plenty.

"I think all must now recognize the commanding position of the Canadian Pool, and the readiness of Argentine shippers to follow a strong upward lead."

Power and Its Dangers

Down through the ages man has striven for power, and yet more power. From the biblical story of creation we learn that man was given power and dominion over the beasts of the field, and thus early in his career set out to establish his power over all the forces of nature. From that time down to the present with ever increasing eagerness and energy man has sought for power.

It is recorded of Alexander the Great that, having conquered the then known world, he sighed for more worlds to conquer. Egypt under the Pharaohs, Rome under the Caesars, Carthage, Greece, all the great empires of the past strove for power, and, having attained it, were ultimately destroyed by it. The same was true of Napoleon, and in the lifetime of the present generation it has again been proven in the case of the ex-Kaiser Wilhelm.

By way of contrast the history of Britain during the last one thousand years may be noted. The British Empire is today the most powerful political entity in the world. It has gone on from strength to strength and increased in power, not through the autocratic use of its power, but, by a paradox, in continually and voluntarily relinquishing powers which it enjoyed to subordinate peoples and colonies, raising their status, conferring new powers on them, and accepting them on terms of equality with itself. The most dangerous period in Britain's history was when it did not pursue such a course and sought to impose its will upon the thirteen American colonies. At that time instead of gaining or retaining power, it lost it. That lesson has never been forgotten by British statesmen.

Power wielded wisely will increase, but exercised unwisely and autocratically it will destroy itself. This is just as true in the case of individuals, corporations and associations as it is in the case of rulers, governments and countries. It is especially true of monopolies of all kinds, and it is because monopolies have and do make use of their power unfairly and selfishly that there has developed such a large body of public opinion favorable to the principle of public ownership and operation of all services which in their very nature must be monopolistic, as, for example, railways, telephones, electric power systems.

In the early days of Western Canada the C.P.R. enjoyed a monopoly in transportation. It was rather autocratic; perhaps in those days it had to be, but its management was wise and far-seeing, and, in later years, using its great power for the good of the country, it has grown still more powerful and successful, and, at the same time, stronger in the esteem and goodwill of the people.

The organized grain trade of Canada wielded great power, but, not being so amenable to public opinion, it has lost much of its power. It is still inclined to be selfish and in that fact lies its danger, because it cannot be denied that it is losing instead of gaining in public favor, with the inevitable result that year by year it is being hedged about with greater restrictions and a larger measure of public control.

The same danger confronts the great banking institutions of the country, and the people are becoming increasingly restive under the steady absorption of small banks by the larger ones. The banks may, for the time being, become more powerful, but there is always a greater power, the people themselves, and the banks may succeed in becoming so consolidated and powerful, that it will become all the simpler for the people to step in and take their powers to the nation itself.

In this electrical age, water powers, coal resources, and electrical distribution systems are the very life-blood of industry. Upon them is dependent most of the conveniences of modern life. Control of electrical development means great power, both directly and indirectly. Financial magnates and captains of industry are fully alive to this fact, and there is keen competition throughout the world, and especially on this continent, to obtain such control. It means power in a double sense. It is the live question in the Dominion Parliament, the Manitoba Legislature, the Alberta Legislature now in session, as it was the outstanding question before the Saskatchewan Legislature recently prorogued. It is the biggest issue in Ontario and Quebec, and the outstanding problem at present affecting the relations of Canada and the United States.

In Ontario the controlling factor are the people themselves through their Provincially-owned system. The Saskatchewan Government has adopted the same policy. But unfortunately the situation is not so satisfactory in Manitoba and Alberta. And now come reports that United States interests are seeking to secure control of Canadian companies operating in the west, which would have the effect of bringing this country within the tentacles of the big American Power Trust.

No Time For Train Travel

Lindbergh Finds Airplane Best Way To Get Around

When Col. Lindbergh set out in the first week in February in a flight to inaugurate the air mail service between Florida and the Canal Zone, he was asked how long it had been since he had travelled in a railroad train.

"More than a year and a half—before I flew to Paris," he replied.

Since he learned to fly, Col. Lindbergh, up to the time of the Florida-Panama flight, had covered 270,000 miles in flight. This distance is equal to about eleven times the circumference of the earth. The time he had spent in the air totaled 3,030 hours, or about four months of the ground. In 1923 he was 800 hours in the air, or more than thirty-three days. In this time his flights totaled 65,000 miles.

"I wouldn't have time to go so many places if I didn't fly," he said.

A young farmer can get along very well without a knowledge of Latin or Greek, but to succeed he must know something of soils, of pests, or fungous diseases and a dozen other subjects that confront him every day. CONSTRUCTION OF A NATIONAL HIGHWAY URGED

Ottawa.—The railway terminals situation in Montreal must be faced "and faced in a rather large way in the very near future," Hon. Charles A. Dunning, minister of railways and canals, informed the House of Commons. The minister was speaking during debate on the resolution of D. F. Kellner, (U.F.A., Athabaska), which calls upon the government to consider making a further federal grant for the next five years highway construction.

Mr. Dunning drew attention to the fact that Canada was the owner of a large railway transportation system, and that its needs must be considered when large expenditures from the federal treasury on highways were contemplated. He did not want himself placed on record as being opposed to the construction of a national highway.

"But I do say, we must always have regard to our over two billion dollar investment on railways in providing for the development progressively, over a period of years, of a form of transportation which will tend to reduce possibility of our railways earning their own way," warned the minister.

Mr. Dunning stressed the point that the provinces themselves prefer increased subsidies to grants which are earmarked for some specific purpose, such as highway construction. They were opposed to government grants with strings attached.

Later debate was productive of an amendment from A. M. Carnichael, (Progressive, Kindersley), which favored the construction of a national highway from coast to coast as soon as possible.

The majority of speeches favored federal aid in the construction of highways. The advantages which would accrue to the Dominion through increased tourist traffic, and the additions to the federal treasury because of the purchase of more motor cars, were mentioned as arguments for the resolution.

E. J. Garland (Progressive, Bow River), said that nothing would serve as well as a national highway to bring the east and west together. It was repugnant to think that in crossing the country by automobile, it was necessary to travel part of the way in the United States on account of the roads.

"There is not a prairie member," Mr. Garland declared, "who has not experienced a thrill by the sight of a motor car with a Quebec or better still a Nova Scotia license."

Dr. T. E. Kayser (Progressive, Ontario), said the great need of the west was communication by good roads. He favored the resolution.

David Spence (Conservative, Parkdale), said he noticed that support of the resolution was only coming from his side of the house.

The members of the opposite side, Mr. Spence said, "especially the members from Saskatchewan, are sitting there as if puzzled."

In his opinion, good roads were a national welfare.

Will Not Issue Invitation

But British Government Is Still Considering Naval Conditions

London, Eng.—Replying to a question, Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons that the government had no intention of issuing invitation to a new conference on naval disarmament.

Sir Austen re-affirmed a previous announcement that all questions, concerning British relations with the U.S. and the naval conditions of the two countries are under consideration by the British Government.

"Our examination of this is being diligently prosecuted," he said. "As soon as it is concluded the first step will be to communicate with the Dominions."

The foreign secretary said the recent statement on disarmament in Washington made by Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, was not made on the instructions of the British Government.

Require More Radium

Small Supply Hinders Toronto Doctors In Cancer Treatments

Toronto.—Effectual treatment of cancer in Toronto, other than by surgery, is materially retarded by the small supply of radium available, declared Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, professor of clinical surgery, University of Toronto, in the course of a paper delivered before members of the Academy of Medicine.

Toronto's whole supply of radium, the speaker said, consisted of the small amount of one-half gram, or about $25,000 worth. The least amount necessary to successfully carry on a battle against the disease would be two grams, he added.

He suggested collecting a $500,000 fund which could be used for the purchase of nine grams, an amount sufficient to enable local surgeons to effect many more cures in cancer than is now possible.

Suggests C.P.R. Branch Line Into The Pas

Move Launched By Head Of Ross Navigation Company

The Pas, Man.—A move to have the Canadian Pacific Railway build a line into The Pas, was launched here, when Harvey Weber, president of the Ross Navigation Co., and president of Transports, Limited, urged the Rotary Club to take the initiative.

Mr. Weber advocated asking the C.P.R. to build down the Carrot River Valley to The Pas, and secure joint running rights over the Hudson Bay Railway. He declared numerous prairie towns south and west of here served exclusively by the Canadian Pacific Railway would thereby get one through freight rate to Churchill instead of two rates.

Details Are Completed For First War Vessels Ordered By Dominion

London, Eng.—Commodore C. W. Rose, director of naval services of Canada, will return to the Dominion on the steamship Montclare, sailing for St. John, N.B., having concluded the final details for the two new destroyers for Canada.

The destroyers, to be completed in two years, are of the latest British destroyer type of 1,330 tons, speed 37 knots and armed with four 4.7-inch guns and two two-pounder guns. They are the first war vessels ever ordered by Canada.

May Create Another Province

Tenth Province In Northern Area May Be Solution

Edmonton.—That the Dominion Government could scarcely be expected to extend the boundary of any one of three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta—without dealing with all three and also with the whole of that area now administered by the Dominion as the North West Territories, was the statement of Premier J. E. Brownlee in the Legislature here.

The Premier said that while he did not wish to directly quote any person, he had gathered while in Ottawa that the disposition of the Dominion Government at present was rather to create another province from the territories than to divide them up between the other provinces.

The Premier said he was not inclined to take the reports of Saskatchewan's efforts in this direction seriously.

Quota System For Canada

Advocates Restriction Of Immigration To The Dominions

Ottawa.—A quota system for immigrants entering Canada is advocated by Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Addington).

Dr. Edwards, in a resolution placed on the order paper of the House of Commons, seeks approval of his opinion that "immigration to the Dominion of Canada should be restricted by the adoption of a quota system which, however, shall not be applied to the British Isles and the United States of America and from which certain specified countries may be practically exempt."

Byrd Expedition Reports Important Discoveries At South Pole

New York.—The New York Times, The St. Louis Post-Dispatch and their associated newspapers have received a delayed dispatch from their correspondent with the Byrd Antarctic expedition telling of a new exploration flight begun by Commander Byrd over King Edward VII. Land to the south of the mountains he discovered recently.

The flight was being made with two planes, a Fokker in which were Commander Byrd, Bernt Balchen, pilot, and Lloyd Berkner, radio operator, and in the other Captain Parker, Harold June, pilot and navy radio operator.

The correspondent's brief dispatch was sent by dog team from Little America, the Byrd headquarters ashore, to the barque City of New York at the ice barrier, for transmission by wireless.

At the time it was sent the correspondent reported wireless messages coming from the 'planes showed that the flight was still in progress and already had been productive of important discoveries, which would be made known when the 'planes returned to their base.

Ottawa.—The unloading and binning in public elevators of certain grades of wheat is the subject of a resolution placed on the order paper of the House of Commons, by T. L. Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch.

Mr. Donnelly proposes that "the grades of wheat known as Nos. 1, 2 and Northern, and 4, 5 and 6 wheat binned to terminal points should be unloaded and binned only in public terminal elevators, under such regulations as will prohibit mixing of the grades either in the elevator or when being loaded into boats or cars, or in transit for milling or export." The matter will come up for discussion in the House shortly.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS' WORK

Ottawa.—"There is no royal road to peace, but there are many paths which lead in the direction of peace and the Briand-Kellogg treaty is one of these paths," Premier King said during the House of Commons debate on the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Premier King paused at this moment to pay tribute to the work of the League of Nations towards peace. Touching upon disarmament, Premier King said it was true that progress toward disarmament had not been as great as one would like, but considerable progress had been made. The pact created a solemn covenant binding nations not to go to war as a means of settling differences.

The Senate of Canada has already ratified the pact.

Mr. King sketched briefly the history of the treaty, which he said, had now been accepted by 62 nations. Its fundamental origin was "to be bound in a feeling of revolt against war on the part of all nations which have had to do with war in the recent past."

The treaty did not pretend to establish machinery for the prevention of war, but it called forth from the nations of the world "a solemn renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy."

The League of Nations did not include within its membership all the nations of the world, said the prime minister, in pointing out some of the advantages of the treaty. The United States was not a member of the League of Nations, but it had signed the treaty for the renunciation of war. One or two other countries were in the same position.

Support of the treaty, coupled with a note of warning that there must be disarmament if peace is to be more than a dream, was the burden of the speech with which Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, followed Mr. King.

Rationing Bread In Russia

People Are Using It To Feed Hungry Cattle

Moscow.—Bread books issued by the government will govern purchase of bread after March 15, the Moscow Soviet or governing committee has decided.

The committee, which acts when the Soviet is not in session, was ordered in a resolution to work out details governing the distribution of bread under the new order.

The resolution, after stating that the red capital was amply supplied with baked bread, went on to say that the main difficulty lay in speculation and in feeding cattle with bread which was cheaper than fodder.

Supplies For H.B. Terminals

House Told $210,570.38 Was Spent In Halifax During 1927

Ottawa.—A sum amounting to $210,570.38 was spent in Halifax by the department of railways and canals and the department of marine and fisheries in 1927 in connection with the activities in Hudson Bay. This was disclosed in a return tabled in the House of Commons in answer to a question by W. A. Black (Cons., Halifax). It was shown that the railway department spent $30,336.96 with Halifax firms for supplies on account of the Hudson Bay terminals. The marine department bought $40,721.99 worth of materials from A. S. MacMillan for the Hudson Straits Expedition, and $139,511.43 worth from other firms in the way of supplies.

WHY NOT OUR CANADIAN BOYS

The Federal Department of Immigration and Colonization have evolved plans for the settlement of British boys in Canada under the auspices of the Dominion, Provincial and British Governments.

The plan is briefly as follows:

British boys between the ages of 15 and 20 are selected and are brought to Canada free of all transportation charges. They are then placed on farms at a minimum wage of $10 per month and larger sums as their earning powers increase.

Now this is the clause in the plan we wish particularly to call our readers attention to:

A loan of $2500.00

"When the boy has attained a practical knowledge of farm work and livestock, has become 21 years of age, and has saved up the sum of $500, the Dominion, Provincial and British Governments, under a joint agreement will grant him a loan of $2500.00 for the purchase of a farm of his own. The saving of $500.00 is required as evidence of the boy's industry and thrift. The loan of $2500.00 is to be repaid over a period of twenty years with interest at five per cent."

This looks like a good plan to get British boys to come to Canada and take up farming.

We have in Canada many farmers sons who, through lack of funds and encouragement, are compelled to leave the farm. The Canadian boys are well trained farmers with a knowledge of Canadian farming methods and Canadian ideals, who are already good Canadian citizens anxious to continue on the farm and build up homes for themselves, but because of the difficulties of getting started and securing a farm of their own, become discouraged and drift away to the cities and in many instances leave Canada for the United States, where because of their Canadian nationality they are welcomed with open arms.

The number of Canadian young men who leave Canada each year for the United States is appalling, and the fact that we as Canadians have raised up these boys, given them the benefits of our educational system and made them good men for any country, represents an economic loss to Canada that cannot be estimated.

The juvenile branch of the Department of Immigration states that since 1868 approximately 85,000 children have been brought to Canada from Great Britain. This number is only a fraction of the total Canadian boys who have left Canada in that period for the United States.

It is high time that the Dominion and Provincial Governments, instead of expending so much energy and money on inducing people to come to Canada, bend their efforts to keep our young Canadians in Canada and for Canada.

Give to every Canadian farmer's son, over 21 years of age, who has saved $500, a loan of $2500, re-payable over a period of 20 years at five per cent., for the purpose of purchasing a farm and instead of being anxious to leave the farms, these young men

Track Would Direct Planes and Steamers

Engineer Says Charged Wire Strung Along Channel Would Provide Safety

An electric "track" has been developed over which steamships, dirigibles and airplanes could "run" and be absolutely indifferent to the dangers of fog, thick weather and perilous harbors' channels. Robert H. Mariott, newly-appointed consulting engineer to the Federal Radio Commission, told electrical engineers who came from all parts of the United States to attend the winter convention of their society at the Engineering Societies' Building, New York.

The "track" which would keep steamers and aircraft from going astray in thick weather consists of a cable charged with electricity, laid down the middle of a harbor channel, or in the case of aircraft, stretched on poles like a telegraph line from one city to another, under the regular airway.

AFTER EFFECTS OF DREADED INFLUENZA

Overcome By the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Throughout Canada influenza prostrates thousands of busy men and women every winter, wrecking their health and leaving behind numerous serious ailments. It is the after effects of influenza that cause such widespread misery. Here is the reason.

Influenza impoverishes the blood; shatters the nervous system and renders its victims liable to rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia and other nervous disorders. You can avoid the influenza by keeping the blood rich and pure with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or if because you have not recognized your blood weakness the trouble fastens its fangs upon you, its disastrous after effects can be driven out by the same remedy. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increase and enrich the blood, feed the starving nerves and thus impart new health and strength to enfeebled men and women.

Here is proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to banish these disastrous after-effects of influenza. Mrs. W. J. Radford, R.R. 5, Belleville, Ont., writes:—"I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because they put me on the road to health after other medicines had failed. I was in a bad condition after an attack of influenza and my friends thought that I would never get well. I tried remedy after remedy without relief till my mother begged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got me a supply. I began using them and before they were all gone I could see they were helping me so my husband bought a further supply. I continued taking them for some time and they fully restored my health. Naturally I am always ready to recommend them to other sufferers and I never lose an opportunity to do so."

You can get these health-renewing pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

No, it's not a Paris stage scene. It's just an interior view of the giant Cunard liner "Berengaria" when some of England's leading stage people were guests aboard the Cunarder recently, and were royally entertained by sprightly dancing girls. This line, founded by the Canadian, Sir Samuel Cunard, operates a score of such floating palaces between British and Canadian and American ports, with economical quarters for the stream of settlers to the Canadian farm lands.

PROOF OF DYES is in the dyeing!

Words won't dye a dress, or coat, or sweater. It takes real anilines to do that. That's why Diamond Dyes contain from three to five times more anilines than any other dye—by actual test.

It's the anilines in Diamond Dyes that do the work; that give the colors such brilliance; such depth and permanence. It's real aniline that keeps them from giving things that red-dyed look; from spotting or streaking.

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. Then compare results. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Observe how they keep their brilliance. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Golden Text: "So we, who are many, are one body in Christ."—Romans 12:5.

Lesson: Matthew 16:13-20; Mark 4:26-32; Romans 12:4-8; Ephesians 1:15-23; 2:13-22; 4:4-6, 11-16; 5:22-27; 1 Timothy 3:15.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 4:11-16.

Explanations and Comments

The Christian Church Is a Growing Church, Mark 4:26-32.—And Jesus said, "So is the Kingdom of God," that is, what you see to be God's method of working in Nature is also His method of working in the spiritual realm. The parables of Jesus show us that the term "the Kingdom of God" has to do with man's spiritual nature and possibilities, his inner life; it is the reign of God in the hearts of men. The Kingdom of God is as if a man should cast seed upon the earth—as Jesus and the apostles and His later followers have implanted the word of God in the hearts of men. After having sown the seed, the planter sleeps by night and rises by day; that is, he leads his customary life and leaves the result of the sowing with God. And the seed springs up and grows, he knoweth not how.

One of the most effective vermifuges on the market is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

Protect the child from the ravages of worms by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is a standard remedy, and years of use have enhanced its reputation.

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. It restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

Donald stirred as Andy applied the water, and his one good eye opened slowly. "Did I win?" he questioned weakly.

"You bet your blinkin' life you did. When Donald's gaze rested on Connie his face twisted into a wry smile. He reached for her hand and held it in a firm pressure. "Good little sport," he whispered through split lips.

Connie felt as though her heart would burst. Scorching tears ran down her face, and it was with the utmost difficulty that she controlled the suffocating sobs that filled her throat.

The sound of the big mill whistle smote their ears in a wild medley of short, sharp blasts, quite unlike the decorous tone that summoned and dismissed the men.

"What's that?" asked Donald, attempting to sit up.

"The engineer is celebrating, Donnie. The men 'ave returned to work. The strike is broken."

"Ah!" sighed Donald happily as he fell back on the pillows.

The distant hum of a gas car gradually increased to a series of staccato explosions, then died out suddenly. They heard the light rumble of wheels as it drew to a stop at the station below. There was the sound of quick foot-steps on the board sidewalk and the door opened to admit Dr. Paul. He crossed the room and took Donald's hand. "Is it true," he asked incredulously, "that you whipped Ole Hand?"

"Strike me pink if 'e didn't," Andy vouchsafed.

"I have patched up Hand's victim's many times," the doctor stated, "but this is the first time that I have attended his victim, and I can assure you that it's a pleasure." He removed his coat and rolled up his sleeves. "I'll look you over," he added, then glanced significantly at Connie, who rose and left the room.

"A couple of cracked ribs, a fractured ulna, and a few hundred bruises," was the doctor's verdict a few minutes later.

The physician's deft hands soon bandaged the broken ribs and set the bone of the forearm.

"I'll go and patch up the fallen bully. I hope he's worse still," he chuckled as he left the room.

Sarnia, Ont.—"I am willing to answer letters from other women, to tell them the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. I cannot be thankful enough for the benefits I received during the Change of Life. I do housework and my troubles made me unfit to work. A friend advised me to try the Vegetable Compound. I felt great relief at once, began to regain my appetite, and my nerves got better. I will recommend your medicine to all with troubles like I had."—MRS. JOHN BENSON, 162 N. Christina St., Sarnia, Ontario.

Andy stepped to the door and called in Connie.

"Don't look so frightened, Connie," smiled Donald. "I don't feel half as bad as I look."

"I'll have to go now," she said in a voice choked with emotion.

Andy accompanied her outside the door. "Ave a bite to eat, Connie?" he invited.

Connie shook her head. Now that the excitement was over, the strain of the emotion she had experienced showed in the dark shadows under her eyes and in the droop of her slight shoulders. "Andy," she began as she placed a small hand on his arm, "you—you won't say anything what—what—I—"

A flood of rose dyed her tanned cheeks and her blue eyes fell in embarrassment. Andy patted her shoulder reassuringly.

"I'll never s'y a blinkin word, Connie; an oyster's got nothin' on me."

Connie, visibly relieved, picked up her gun and started up the hill. Andy watched the pathetic little figure until she disappeared in the woods. For a moment he stood staring into nothingness, then, shaking his head sadly, he entered the cabin.

"She's a little brick, Andy," Donald spoke weakly from his bed.

Andy glared at him. "Brick!" he repeated sarcastically. "Is that all? You big, bone-headed, blinkin' boob!" He slammed the door as he went out to give emphasis to the remark.

"What the devil does he mean?" puzzled Donald. He turned painfully to his side, yawned equally as painfully, then fell into a sound sleep.

CHAPTER XV.

On the third day of Donald's convalescence he was able to leave his cabin. With his arm in a sling, his face patched with plaster, he made the rounds of the mill.

The men welcomed him with eager nods and smiles, many coming forward to shake his hand in silent respect. The big plant was now going at full blast. Belts flapped, logs thudded, planers snored loudly, and the great saw ripped shrilly through the big logs in a raising crescendo of sound.

Down at the siding an engine bumped noisily into a long string of flat-cars piled high with lumber. With arms akimbo, his wet undershirt clinging to his powerful torso, the mop of blond hair hanging damp on his brow, Gillis stood surveying the heavily-laden cars with an air of complacency. The lumber handlers sat about in positions of weariness, mopping their hot faces.

Gillis smiled cheerfully as Donald approached.

"Good news for you, Donnie," he said.

"What is it, Jack?"

"Last load for the big steamer," replied Gillis, as he pointed at the moving train.

"We're on time, then," cried Donald gladly.

"One day ahead," corrected Gillis.

The engineer came to the cab window as the engine passed, and pantomimed his congratulations by shaking hands with himself. The train gathered speed, and as the caboose rattled by, the conductor came to the rear platform.

"Good work, boys!" he shouted.

They stood watching the train until it struck the down grade and disappeared through the cut.

"Well, that's over," observed Gillis, as he sat down heavily and wiped the sweat from his face. He looked tired and worn, but the light of victory shone in his eyes.

"If it hadn't been for you, Jack," said Donald earnestly, "we would not have got that order away on time. You look all in; you'd better have a good sleep."

The big man's eyes brightened at Donald's praise.

"You don't look like you'd bin to a Sunday school picnic," replied Gillis with a chuckle.

As Donald walked up the hill the whistle blew for the noon-hour, and the men trooped past on their way to the dining-room. Blackie left the ranks and walked shamefacedly to Donald's side.

"I'm sorry for the part I took in the strike, boss, I—"

"It's all right, Blackie," interrupted Donald, "you more than made up for it. We'll forget all about that."

pose. It is a business to be finished with as hurriedly as possible. From the time the men are seated until the chairs are pushed back, the clatter of dishes and an occasional "pass the butter" are the only sounds.

As Donald moved to his place at the table the men arose and clapped their hands. Someone called for a cheer, but Donald laughingly held up his hand.

"Men, I can't find words to tell you how much I appreciate your good work. Your long hours of labor enabled the Company to get an important order away on time, thereby saving their prestige in a big Eastern market. You will receive double pay for every hour you worked during the week."

A low murmur of applause followed this welcome announcement.

After lunch, feeling the need of exercise, Donald made his way slowly down the hill. The severe mauling and the days in bed had weakened him to such an extent that he was forced to take frequent rests. As he turned a curve in the trail, Hand and the man with whom Andy had fought crawled stealthily from the bush, looked furtively about them, then followed Donald down the hill. He reached the open glade by the fairy nest to find Connie seated by the rippling stream, her chin resting in cupped hands, and staring dreamily into the flashing water.

"Ah!" he cried gaily, "I have caught my little dryad at her orisons."

At the sound of his voice Connie sprang to her feet, her heart racing madly. Hearing a sound behind him, Donald turned to find the eyes of the Breed fixed on him in a malignant glare that chilled him to the marrow. For a short interval the dusky orbs of the Indian held his as though with a hypnotic power.

"Whew!" he ejaculated, as the Breed hobbled down the trail, "your guardian sure does give me an awful look. Why does he hate me, Connie?"

"Joe has peculiar ways," she parried.

"What were you dreaming about, Connie?" he asked interestedly.

A gay light danced momentarily in her shining eyes, and the red lips curved in a smile; "I was dreaming I was rich," she archly confessed.

"An old, old dream," smiled Donald as he stretched himself painfully on the moss.

Connie sat down near him.

As always, this spot gave Donald a restful feeling. The gentle zephyrs wafted from the woods about them were somnolently delicious and the sparkling glacial stream that rippled through the glade sang its clear, sweet song. He closed his eyes wearily.

The proximity of the man she loved, lying there with his arm in a splint, his handsome face still bearing the marks of the blows he had suffered in her defence, thrilled Connie to the depths of her warm, impulsive heart. An almost overmastering desire to touch his hair possessed her.

"What would you do if you were rich, Connie?" he queried drowsily.

Connie sank back in the delicious moss and clasped her hands behind her golden head. "I'd buy a big trunk—one of that kind with the bulgy top—and I'd fill it with silks, satins, brocades, velvets and all kinds of soft frilly things. Then I'd unpack it slowly one by one and hang them up all around the room and sit down and look at them. I'd buy a great, big stone house in London, and I'd walk down the wide marble stairs, trailing a long rustling silk gown, and I'd raise my lorgnette to my eyes and say, 'James, have my carriage at the door in half-an-hour. I'd have a country place in Scotland with hundreds of dogs and horses, thousands of birds, and acres of flowers."

She paused for a moment.

"I'd take Dad and Peggy with me everywhere I'd go," she went on softly, "and I'd buy Dad millions of books, and for Peggy I'd buy a solid gold-mounted bridle, and lots of warm blankets for winter instead of those old sacks. I'd buy lots of good things to eat, and lost of good clothes for all the poor kiddies in the world."

She looked up at the hills. "And six months out of every year," she continued, "I'd live right here in these mountains and come every day and sit beside—beside—this stream."

She raised herself slowly and looked down at Donald as he lay with closed eyes. Leaning forward until her golden curls almost brushed his dark hair, her eyes rested on a purple bruise on his brow. "And," she finished fiercely, "I'd kill every man like Ole Hand."

Donald laughed sleepily.

"Connie, you are a dear little girl," he said tenderly.

The endearing tone held a paternal ring, and Connie bit her lip in vexation.

"I'd like to have your father go with me to Vancouver some day. Will you go?"

Guard Against FLU — Sore Throat The First Warning.

Few families will escape. This epidemic constitutes a real danger. Health authorities everywhere warn the public of the danger of the common cold. "Flu" usually starts with Sore Throat. Unless the germs are killed by some antiseptic treatment a serious malady may develop.

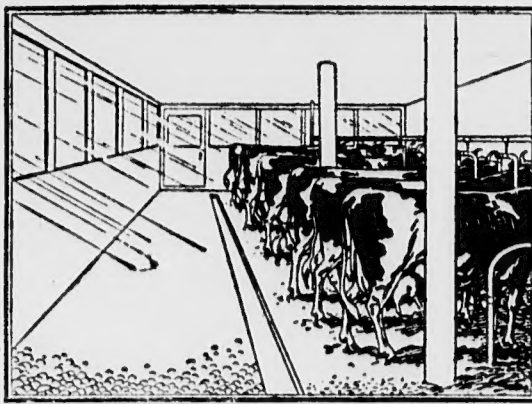

A simple treatment is to gargle the throat three times daily with Nerville. The antiseptic properties of Nerville quickly destroy the germs in the throat. Of course if the chest is sore Nerville should be rubbed over the affected area—lots of rubbing—it can't burn a blister, but will bring out the congestion and break up the cold.

To prevent "Flu" or colds from gaining headway Nerville will prove most effective. It is hardly necessary to point out that the bowels should be stimulated, and the system purged of all waste materials. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills are recommended. They act without griping or discomfort of any kind. This combination treatment of Nerville and Dr. Hamilton's Pills will prove a very satisfactory prevention for Grippe, Flu, etc.
